

Cat 'n' box

Viva Kittery is here to report on thinking inside the box, not outside the box.

NEW STUDY REVEALS THAT THERE'S NO WAY TO KNOW IF YOU ARE IN A BOX UNLESS YOU ARE THINKING JUST THAT.

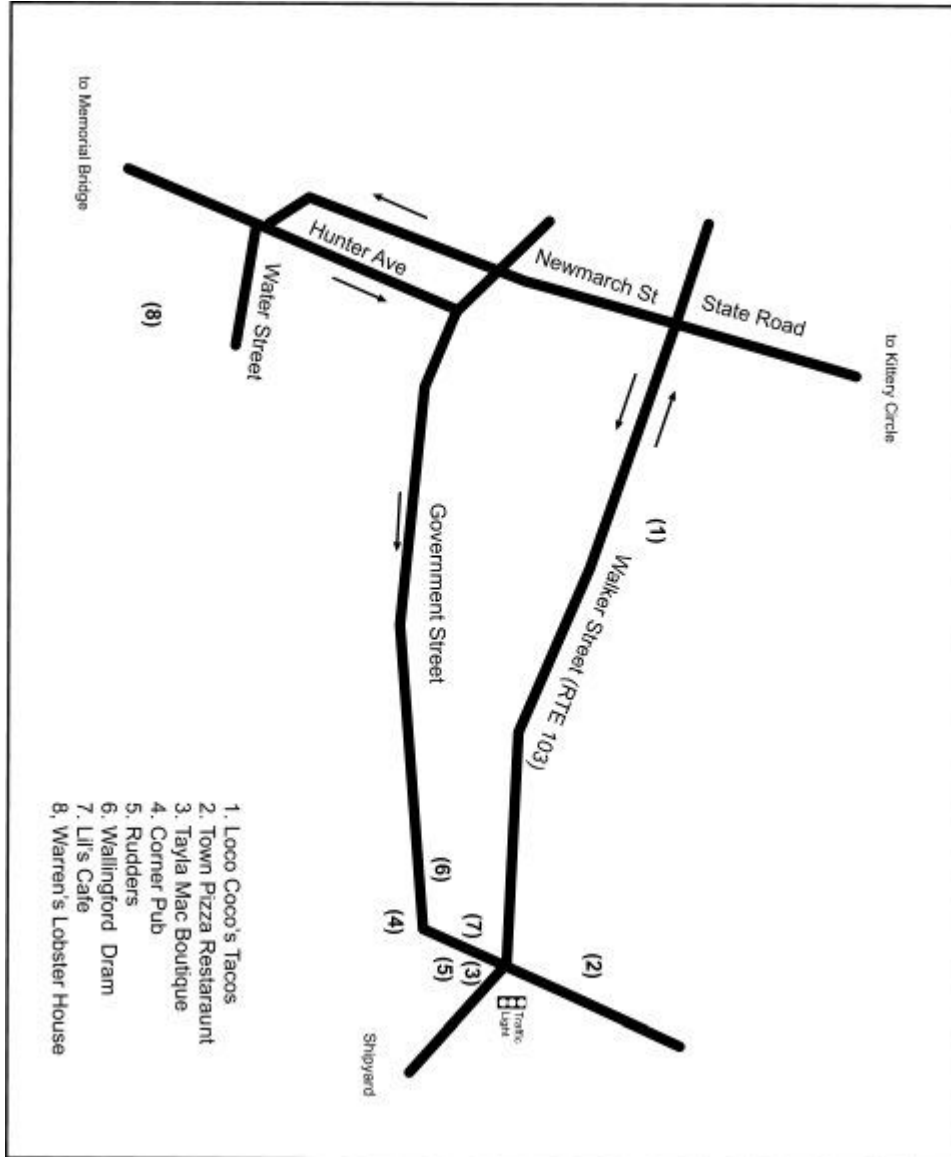

Consider the cat, who crawls inside a box to escape the massive boredom of being inside. Waiting for mice to view their new winter apartments. A recent study shows the cat is clearly thinking at that point, and revealed that it is thinking even more clearly than at any other time! Viva Kittery research analysts were confounded by the revelations of this study.

We can't say what impact that thinking inside the box will have for people, but we now know that thinking inside the box is far more impressive than the old woe-be-gone era of “thinking outside the box”! An era better passed by, than retained in metaphysical perplexity.

In a future issue, Viva Kittery will review the possibility of thinking inside a canister, but for now our focus is definitely about thinking inside the box. SO HERE WE ARE, inside a box and thinking. Well it's a little dark... but comfortable. We might wonder if a label is put on our box so that we might be shipped off somewhere.

What if the box is marked AI. We might be shipped to an active military exercise for worldwide political approval or even possibly ...disapproval.

What if the label was misprinted or haphazardly applied? What if we are thinking inside a box marked Pandora? Would we be in Pandora's box or are we simply waiting for Pandora, who moved with no forwarding address, to receive our beaming happy selves when opened. But now fated, never to be received because of an unexpected move.

What if there is a different label. Are we then stored in an attic, with a label saying don't open till Christmas? And then we find Christmas was replaced by a new Holiday like September 15teenish, which celebrates perpetual storage day! What then.!!??

Once exasperated by thinking inside the box, we can all agree its simply a nice place to take a long nap and wait ...and wait ...and wait ...and wait... for that special reason to finally know. What the heck we are doing in a box to begin with?

Other than thinking about it!

This is your complimentary practice box. Enjoy thinking!
