

Small Island, big Idea

VIVA KITTERY is reporting on a new and interesting story regarding the small island for sale in Maine.

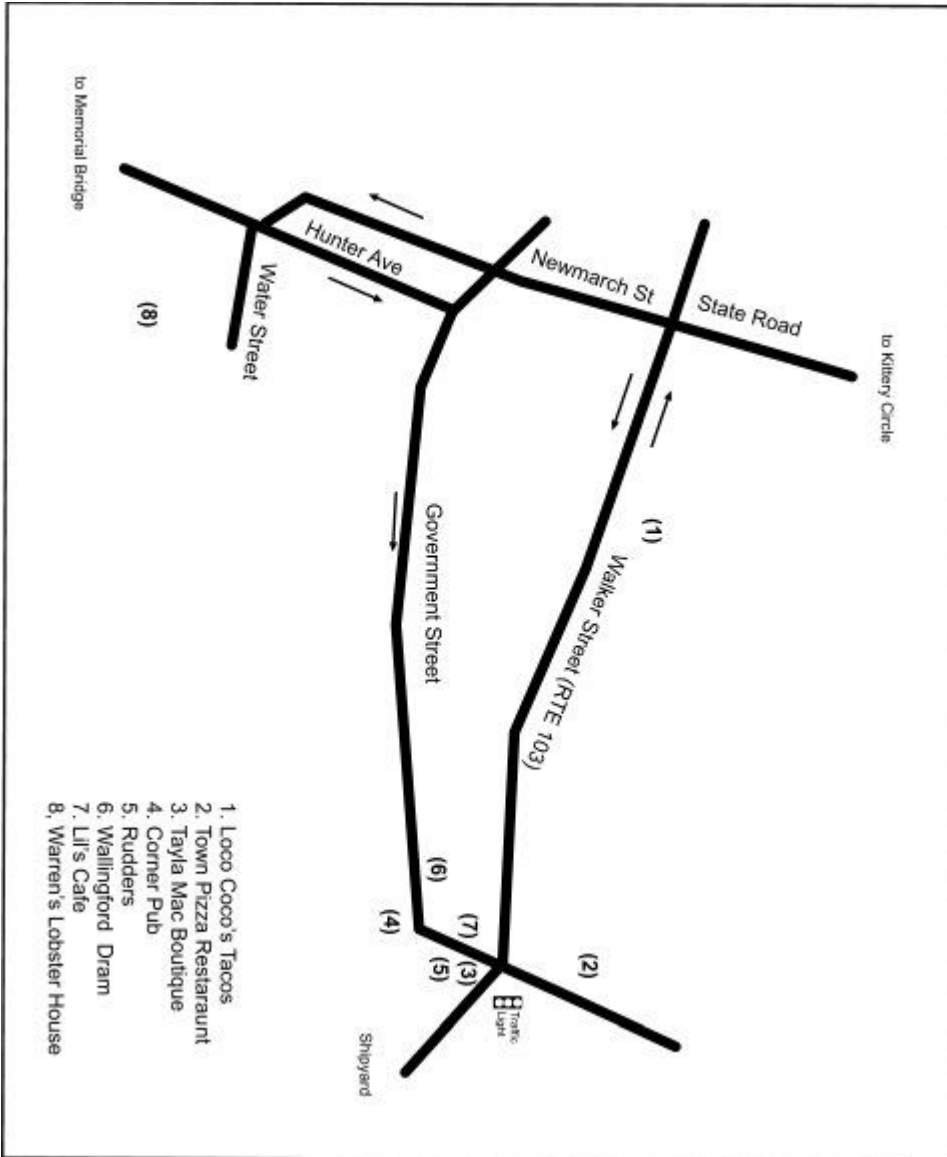

We were looking for investment news to report on and fell into this story, literally.

Many people remember the island of misfit toys, but more people don't. That little island adrift in the ocean of unconsciousness, filled with little forgotten toys, crying out for the simple love of a child. Viva Kittery investigative reporters interviewed a few of the misfit toys.

One of the toys remarked, those kids grow up so quickly we end up here before the new toy is on the shelf. Six (6) months before Christmas and on sale.

The Charlie in the box commented, I've been here for about 75 years and have seen our population quadruple and then triple!! We definitely need to purchase the island but we are made up cartoon characters and have no way of getting real money for a real island that we really need!!

“Its a horrible existence”, said the water pistol who shoots jelly. I can't take it anymore. It's like realizing you are literally Santa's mistake! We are abandoned with other unwanted toys forever and ever. There's simply no clear answer.

So with a heavy heart, Viva Kittery is reaching out to investors having real money and not cartoon money, to buy this small island for the world's misfit toys.

Charlie said, "The problem we face is we can only reach out to other cartoon shows who also cannot raise real money".

Charlie has letters here from Homer Simpson and from teenage ninja turtles. Even Hank Hill from King of the Hill wrote him but .. no real people showed up until Viva Kittery reporters found them doing financial research investments due to Holiday depression OMG...

So real people, please accept this plea from the cartoon island of misfit toys, and BUY this real island. Putting a huge billboard on it, (becoming a tourist viewing center earning real money while visiting the island of forgotten toys!!) Imagine having a summer picnic on this island with all the world's misfit toys for only $205 for 7 people. !!!

Thank you real people for remembering the Island of Misfit Toys and creating a powerful and exciting destination. ...after all Maine is not just a tourist destination it is the nations number one tourist destination !!!

Charlie and the other Misfit Toys sincerely thank you!
