

Butterflies

Viva Kittery reporter , Mr. GROODMAN, is reporting on a highly controversial pending law suit that could, Rock the Whole World! At least as far as legal jurisprudence goes; in a western cultural setting.

If the validity of the argument stands in court, the use of language itself , at least in English, as it applies jurisdictionally can be recovered in public as incontrovertible common rights; interpreted with common sense versus an elaborate legal articulation.

Mr Groodman stood before the World Legal Articulation Committee (or WALLAC, so nicknamed), and asked but one question, ...Can this case be heard? At all?

A rustling occurred amidst the group, as one suggested a new holiday be established , “on the spot”, ...legally,... in order to close the meeting without even a pending response.

Another member piped in, yes ..lets call it Butterfly Awareness Day , or BAD.. (bad like Michael Jackson's bad, not like bad idea!..) and then we can all say, " hey, look at the butterflies' , and walk out on Mr Groodman's question.

They needed a precedent in law to engage the new legal holiday ..' on the fly"... so they said..hmmm.. super awareness of butterflies is legally the same as seeing butterflies and therefore backs the idea of the whole new holiday!! Hhmmm but what legal standard bears a similarity here. Oh " I know" said another,

BUZZED DRIVING IS LEGALLY DRUNK DRIVING.

SO this holiday season, if you are seeing butterflies , get an Uber ,... or call into work and establish your personal butterfly awareness holiday and go have a good time. Its still legal to have fun..sort of..

And ... wait for further updates on this exciting new case, simply follow the Goodman Report.