

Abolish X³

Our own Viva Kittery reporter Mr Rumpa was feeling a little ill after an interview with an alien, who posing as a bank teller, was telling him how money was abolished.. (in an unnamed year).

Rumpa retorted like a raging bull.. “ABOLISHED”!! He exclaimed.. What will be next.. ALCOHOL!!!!!! ???

OMG he repeated again and again as he left the interview and headed for his Doctors office to get a full exam because of the pounding headache he had had for 2 days...

The Dr. had forms he had never seen before and was sitting behind a thick glass panel with a small speaker in front. Rumpa had this Dr. For 23 years and was used to just going in and being seen immediately... Even before people sprawled out on the floor writhing in pain were seen.

So you can imagine this nightmare as Rumpa saw his Dr. through the glass and was yelling to get his attention while his Dr simply pointed to his ear and was nodding.... NO

He pointed to the forms hanging on the wall and using hand signs was showing Rumpa to fill it out.

The first line read... Due to recent news that money might be abolished... we simply don't know you anymore. Please come back with an appropriate form of payment .. or not.. because we cant think of anything else either.

Local News

Attention residents! A new conglomeration is being considered .. with billions of federal dollars to build the first in the country.. Super Rotary!

This ingenious idea combines all the possibilities for walking, biking, hiking, driving, mopeds and yes even a special dog walking path. Some planners call it a monstrous concrete cyclone but 2 residents who only live there one month a year really want it, so its going in!

If you remember the Boston “BIG DIG” tunnel project you will get the idea here. Local stores and traffic will suffer a small seven year bypass traffic diversion from the downtown area, but when its done...wow what a difference it will make.

First the cars will have a three mile loop-de-loop going several thousand feet in the air while on descending paths young bikers will glide towards the school. There will be a three thousand car parking lot for those who would rather swim across the river as well. You won't have to stop and wait to make a right turn downtown anymore..all traffic will be one way once you get on the new rotary. There will be tolls as well but with easy pass you will blast through the three, nine dollar tolls, with ease before exiting to Cumberland Farms or Dunkin donuts.

Our reporter corresponded with a local resident who while in favor of the project , projects that he won't be leaving the house anymore. That's all for the Viva Kittery, new traffic report..remember to stay safe and keep voting for big spending!
