

Marital Strife

Well our own Viva Kittery reporter aka Viva "paparazzi", has been following up with the now famous .."Man who married himself"

Well the guy said, the honeymoon is over. We.. or I .. I should say, have had our first argument.

I wanted a number three..medium with coffee at McDonald's, while I also wanted the great super and obviously better whopper with cheese and extra pickle at Burger King. OH what a day, racing towards McDonald's and then doing a u-turn on the highway using the the little in between road for cops only.

Now speeding towards Burger King before I could change my mind .. or.. my newly married mind.. back to McDonald's. What a nightmare..this battle of serving the other self was relentless remarked the newly married man. IF only we could agree on anything he screamed out his window... getting the attention of a driver parked next to him..and turning to that driver he remarked.. I'm newly married to myself and we are struggling over our lunch choice! The parked man lay down a strip of rubber as he sped off to get away!

Our reporter asked politely.. "If you don't mind, what happened next? " Well " the man said.. I looked at my spouse in the mirror and yelled... " can we agree on a simple meal.. smiling back ... the mirrored image said..obviously not, but you are driving so I guess it's your choice.

New TV

Our own Viva Kittery television reporter, Skye Camelot is reporting on a new TV series that might be aired soon, or not, ..but either way it sounds exciting It's based on the Doogie Howser theme of a nine year old doctor who goes out to amaze the world.

This series, oddly enough is about a 13 year old lawyer who basically goes around freeing people from prison based on the fact that there is No Truth.

He learns this by reading every book ever written,... yes in all languages..., and yes including all the Dead Sea scrolls in ancient Egyptian.. rounding out his reading by deciphering all the Mayan code as well.

He was able to determine, exactly what we all know now today, anyway... that the entire earth is a complex algorithm relying on a single pulse of energy for all life.

SKYE said ..it was an amaaaaazing interview with esquire Zinger. The show is called ZINGER by the way, if it airs...

So the show is based the fact that Zinger finds out and proves that there is no Truth ... and is able to overturn every law case ever heard. But the zinger here...to the whole show is that Only Zinger can prove this .. so he obviously has a high demand to every one in prison... to have Zinger overthrow their particular case ... He drives people insane by taking on meaningless cases while leaving important political and hardship cases on hold creating a world of corruption and agony to get him to overthrow their important case while he frees people from parking fines and other meaningless convictions. The show is hilarious , funny and sickeningly real Skye said

... we hope it really airs soon ...
