

Microbes

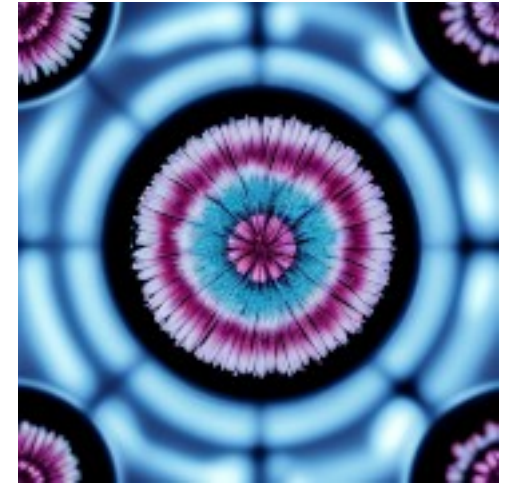

Microbial life may soon become protected by the Federal Bureau of Microbial Species Act. The new microbe czar was interviewed by our own Viva Kittery reporter Bod Stanczwick.

His first question.. how did this new bureau start and what will the protection act do for Microbial life?

Great question the new czar retorted.. we were all hanging around one day watching star trek ..the new generation.. Lt Data..the onboard cyber-scientist was scanning for life forms on a long forgotten planet..and we realized then and there that microbes might be the only life form left on earth in a few hundred years so their protection is valid and therefore legal...especially because the android on a well loved TV show says so..That was enough to move congress to establish the Microbe Protection Act...

The major enemies of microbial life are Lysol, Clorox, soap in general, and all cleaning agents that wipe out microbial life. Our reporter asked.. " isn't that how people clean their environment?"

Yes, until now the czar added. "We were able to draw upon pig pen from the peanuts comic series to show that keeping clean is not important enough to wipe out microbes..disease or not!"

Our reporter asked.. did Doogie Howser the 12 year old famous TV doctor have a formal statement? Yes..he was relived that they no longer have to wash instruments or " clean up" before surgery anymore..he says now i can go straight from the gym, grab the stuff i used in the last surgery and get the job done! And not be breaking the Law! Our reporter stopped recording and said.. I think we get the idea here...adding...safety for microbial life is going to change the face of civilization...

Those not Them

Viva Kittery's very own articulation expert, Isaid Sothere, is going to clarify what "those people are", .. what "WE are doing" and why..

" THEY just don't get it"...

First of all who are those people? Isaid reflected. Those people are the ones who always get life wrong... every time you turn around those people are asking for higher taxes longer prison sentences, and recently those people even wanted to abolish health care in general..

They wanted to abolish healthcare an on looker asked? No..No ..No I didn't say THEY wanted to.. i said those people do. Isaid continued..

THEY are the people who are against what those people want and they are usually the victims of what those people do!!

Also, Isaid continued.. They just don't get it in general so we are the only ones left of center, but right of mind to endure what they resist what those people do.

WE are MAGA... WE are Ameriga.

Or we what they are and subject to what those people do!!!

Editors note.. a little twist in political alliance lol lol

Today's Thought from "UNKNOWN THINKER"

If you are trying to get away from someone,
move and don't record your new address.
But if you truly want to escape,
loan them some money and you will never see them again.
