

Weird Word

Our very own Viva Kittery "weird word" reporter Sam Lipton is doing a cover story on a very weird word he found and is trying to get to the root of the matter.

The word is ENDOCORPHYLLIAS, and is having profound effects on both AI and the entire medical community. As one Doctor said.. " In the new world of Covid.. we can't take chances ..especially when it comes to newly discovered "weird words".. the doctor went on to say.. what if its a new disease.. or what if its a flower that cures Covid itself? Its simply engaging, dangerous.. and compelling.

Sam went on a six month journey..all funded by the Dept of Weird Words .. or in govt terms the ole DWW... The DWW was funded by congress in 1932... to search, find and destroy... if necessary any weird word that could confuse, confound or simply aggravate the general public!

In general the DWW doesn't destroy weird words but simply seeks their proper definition.

First Sam simply stood at the beach..burning weird incense and candles and as the sun rose that morning he screamed out " ENDOCORPHYLLIAS" three times in a row ...and threw a rock into the ocean after the third yell. Well..nothing happened...

Sam went to New York City and went deep into the subways... screaming five times in a row... "ENDOCORPHYLLIAS" ..threw some change to a guy playing violin and waited.. nothing happened.

When he was asked why he did that..Sam simply replied.. i have no idea he chuckled..seemed weirdly dramatic i guess..

Finally after 6 months of government funded research he went to the library and looked it ... and there it was all the time..right there in the ole dictionary.". that's weird he mumbled... I was truly convinced it was a new weird word.. He took out a ball point pen..scratched it out of the dictionary in case someone traced his journey...

He made the call ... i found it he he said trying to sound excited.. the DWW director immediately picked up.. the director was compelled to point out the urgency in knowing what this weird word was all about.. pointing out the 500,000 allotted to food travel and other expenses spent over 6 months..

"yeah.", Sam continued.. it is a weird word but I actually found this one in the dictionary.. so its OK now.. The director replied.." oh..OK.. ".. " well let us know about any others though.. Sam looked wistfully at the ceiling and said.. "yeah .. for sure..will do.." . and simply hung up the phone and went home...
