

NEWMERICA

The Lost City of Gold may be the new city of the future!

Viva Kittery's very own building and prospects reporter AL Ingrahm has uncovered plans for the "city of gold" and is releasing what he found in this exclusive story!

"yeah" AL said..the plans I discovered seem to be the worlds solution for just about everyone!

He said the city plans show a strip of land roughly outlined from Florida to Texas : an area three miles wide and going the whole way from Florida to Texas!

The verbiage included in the plan.. in part.. states that the new city will be an extension of Washington DC.. so its clearly a federal project and will have the full power of eminent domain to claim the area for the new city.

Plans show that a new high speed ..600 miles an hour.. train system will be built. First to go north from the new city into the high regions of America and then south to everywhere else!.

The results of the new system will be much like the first train system that opened the "west" in the 1890s..

There will be so many jobs that people will be employed working for at least 7 generations ...developing experts in the building field of now unknown potential!

The high speed rail will succeed in two main functions. Once in place at this new Border City.. founded as a federal safe-zone.. will allow Border Workers several generations of work under the temporary federal assistant worker program or TFAWP...it will allow continentals the ability to commute weekly to work on the city as well.. you won't have to move there!

The czar of this program needs no building experience because the size of the project is so big no one could understand it anyway!

Once in place the city will provide built in housing and a "seven generation plus" opportunity for anyone on the continent.

High speed rail will allow foods to be shipped from southerly to northerly locations with almost daily access to products while allowing trucking to maintain a local presence.

The city will be so big it could easily absorb the majority of southern sphere peoples looking for work while the high speed rail can get them home on weekends! Unless they stay to work overtime!

AL said..this high speed rail system is the cats meow for sure!

The city will take several hundred years to complete so its not a funding problem because its never gonna end really.

The ocean will be utilized for desalination to provide water resources while actually lowering sea levels to almost safe levels again!

AL confided at the end of the story that he really didn't uncover real plans but dreamed the whole thing after going to a time share seminar. And fell asleep from the "sales pitch exhaustion" he laughed.