WAMIG

Viva Kittery's very own new word analyzer has come up with a real shocker.. and we publish his story here.

Anatoly Demikrorovich, has discovered that its possible that words have no meaning, literally!

This is problematic because it would eliminate the liberal arts degrees, and history degrees and subsequently would abolish law degrees. and would undermine..in degrees.. the entire world.. "possibly"... if word meaningfulness is real.. and the entire world that has been constructed by the legal interpretation of words alone. Period. If that still is the end of a sentence as a word!!

Anatoly conceded that his discovery if not meaningless..is unhappily correct!!

Yes he admitted.. in reciting the three major cases he used to get to the conclusion that words may be meaningless.

So standing in front of the " World Assembly of Meaning In General" ..or WAMIG..Mr. Demikrorovich demonstrated his theory..

Number ONE he said.. people who speak words to you in another language you don't understand are in fact meaningless.

Number TWO... if I say.. or use words.. to convey... "don't smoke 5 packs of cigarettes a day.. like Teddy Roosevelt did.. and you say ...

What?!!!

Does that mean you didn't hear me or you didn't know what I said or you didn't understand the words at all?? Rendering them meaningless in every way..

.. .. unless you did understand and did not want to comply..... or if you understood and accepted the words as an inquiry to your inner thought using a retrospective or idealized situation but chose not to comply with the "worded command or higher suggestion" ...or to comply based on the variable condition of the statement.. that;.. legally could be challenged but would not be challenged unless other people didn't like Teddy Roosevelt .. which other people in fact did..

Finishing " number two" the faces of the audience looked numbed and disoriented.

One fellow shouted out ..number two is a quarter pound-er with cheese meal at McDonald's..

Anatoly shook his fist in the air.. see..see what I'm saying.. words are meaningless unless backed up with the best take out choice in history.. " unless you get listeria from the onions!@..

Lets keep words for menus only.. and stop using words for anything else he screamed over the microphone.

A loud and uproarious applause came from WAMIG.. and amidst the commotion and rebellious activity against the further use of words a person jumped onto the stage..grabbed Anatoly's mic and screamed... the quarter pound meal is number three!! Order a number 3..

A number three is all you really need..!!
