

Poem Found

Viva Kittery's very own "old paper guy" .. Stamworth Giles has discovered the seemingly only poem by Mark Twain.

It seems to be the only poem by him because there no other known poems Stamworth remarked...

People asked.. how did you discover this? It must worth a FORTUNE!@

Well its funny you ask..and yes it is indeed worth a fortune Stamworth continued.. I was simply digging through old papers when I thought I recognized a handwritten r that looked suspiciously like the way Twain wrote r's in the year 1891. Only in that year did he do "r" s that way. And the paper had a watermark on it.. you got it 1891!! So putting two and two ...together..Stam chuckled.. I realized it is probably the only poem Mark Twain ever wrote!@ and yes..did I mention its worth a fortune??? The crowd muttered.. yes..yes you did.

So the poem..reprinted with copyright "withheld"

*A cat rattled its paw
Against the window
being a real pain
But was seen
And at last was heard
KITTY in the window*

"I won the game!"

Remarkable the crowd screamed

Definitely by Mark Twain..all agreed..and away went Mr Giles to find yet another game!!!
